Jeff – thank you for your comments. The limits for the parameters you discuss in your letter are provided to us by our biologists. The person who wrote the limits for your permit is out until Tuesday. Hopefully I can discuss your letter with him then as I see he has a lot of field work scheduled over the next two weeks. I don't know how much flexibility we have. The toughest one might be mercury because that is based on a statewide strategy that applies to everyone.

Yes, selenium has been removed. Thank you for pointing that out. I have added it to the list of permit changes on the public notice document.
